Give your customers, students, or members a gift that shows you care about their food safety...

Demonstrate your concern for their health by giving them a FREE Thermy™ reminder to use a food thermometer – to help them ensure their food is safe to eat.

Thermym™ materials include:

- Thermym™ brochure – that explains why it is important to use a food thermometer, the types of food thermometers available, and includes a safe food temperature chart. (Also available in Spanish)
- Lively poster – suitable for classroom, school lunchroom, or library, this educational poster gives safe temperatures for a variety of meat and egg dishes susceptible to food bacteria.
- Attractive postcard -- promotes the important message to use a food thermometer in a small, colorful handout that's easy to keep nearby in the kitchen. This useful postcard includes a safe temperature chart that gives the safe-to-eat temperatures.
- Magnet – perfect for the refrigerator, this colorful magnet summarizes the safe-temperature chart and keeps this important information easily available.

Choose your favorite way to give this important food safety information to your customers, students, or members...and order today –
