Steamed Chicken Soup Dumplings
Filled with a Rich & Savory Broth
Steamed dumplings, also known as "Xiao Long Bao", originated in the Jiangnan region of China. They are traditionally made with pork and steamed in small bamboo steamer baskets. Our version is made with chicken and comes in a convenient microwaveable steamer tray. Each dumpling packs a strong punch of flavor due to the copious amounts of ginger.

HEATING INSTRUCTIONS:

MICROWAVE (1200 watt):
Microwave cook times may vary depending on oven wattage. Cut one corner of bag to allow steam to escape. Place tray directly into microwave and heat on high for 1.45 to 2 minutes. Let sit 1 minute before removing from microwave bag and dumplings may be hot. Open bag along seams with caution.

STOVE TOP: Fill a pot fitted with a steamer basket with water and bring to a boil. Place dumplings into steamer with ample space between each piece. Do not crowd. Cover with lid and steam for 8 to 10 minutes or until dumplings are fully heated. Remove carefully.

Caution! These dumplings will be really, really hot.

Gently pick a dumpling up and place it in a spoon. (We like to use chopsticks to do this.) Carefully bite the top or side of the dumpling to release the soup into the spoon. Let the soup cool a bit. Slurp the soup. Eat the dumpling. Enjoy. Repeat.

CONTAINS SOY, SESAME, WHEAT.
